LBJ FOUNDATION

2024 - 2025

“COME NOW, AND LET US REASON TOGETHER...”

— ISAIAH 1:18

That was Lyndon Johnson’s favorite biblical passage. He would often invoke it when he was trying to bring people together toward a common cause, and it spoke to his formidable ability to get things done for the betterment of all. We are in a time of deep division and disunity in our nation. But, as LBJ knew, we can be a better, more united nation if we endeavor to try to understand one another. That’s our hope in what we do at the LBJ Foundation in our support of the LBJ Presidential Library and the LBJ School of Public Affairs.

At the LBJ Library we strive to be a place to build community. Over the past year, we have welcomed extraordinary speakers offering a wide array of viewpoints; brought thousands of educators and students to promote civic engagement and our country’s extraordinary history; and featured exhibitions that explore the richness of the American experience. We also began renovating the Library’s permanent exhibition on LBJ and his consequential presidency—the first major refresh in more than a decade.

And we have seen the LBJ School continues to thrive and grow to new heights, including adding an undergraduate bachelor’s degree in Public Affairs, which has more than doubled the school’s students and infused it with new vitality and purpose.

I hope you’ll read more about these extraordinary developments and highlights in the pages ahead.

As we look toward next year, here’s our promise: the LBJ Foundation will continue to preserve President Johnson’s legacy as a call to action to bring us together toward making us a better nation going forward.

When LBJ dedicated the Library in 1971, he reminded us, “We are all partners in this hopeful undertaking.” I’m grateful for your partnership—and we look forward to continuing our work toward a more hopeful future.

Mark K. Updegrove
President & CEO

YEAR IN REVIEW

REFLECTING ON SERVICE, SACRIFICE, AND THE ENDURING RESPONSIBILITIES OF LEADERSHIP

From powerful conversations with national leaders to moving tributes honoring those who served, the LBJ Foundation's 2024–2025 season invited deep reflection on the lessons of history, service, and leadership. The season opened with an Evening With Nancy Pelosi, the installation of a panel from the Vietnam Veterans Memorial on the Library's third floor, and a new exhibition examining the pivotal month of March 1968 in the Vietnam War.

Highlights of the spring included a tribute to President Jimmy Carter, the opening of an exhibition on Jaws author and former Johnson speechwriter Peter Benchley, and a visit from filmmaker Ken Burns for a preview of his documentary The American Revolution.

The year concluded with a 50th-anniversary commemoration of the end of the Vietnam War and a national Educator Summer Institute focused on teaching about veterans and conflict in American history.

SEPTEMBER AUSTIN MUSEUM DAY
For Austin Museum Day, the Library offered free admission, family-friendly art activities, and music honoring Hispanic Heritage Month.

OCTOBER NANCY PELOSI: THE ART OF POWER
Nancy Pelosi reflected on her trailblazing path to the speakership and the lessons in leadership drawn from her historic career.

NOVEMBER A DAY OF HONOR: VETERANS, FAMILY, AND COMMUNITY
A heartfelt tribute featuring music, food, and resources celebrating veterans and their families on the LBJ Plaza.

JANUARY AN EVENING WITH JONATHAN ALTER: HONORING JIMMY CARTER
Journalist Jonathan Alter joined Mark Updegrove to commemorate President Jimmy Carter's legacy of leadership and humanitarianism.

APRIL VIETNAM WAR COMMEMORATION: 50 YEARS LATER
Veterans, journalists, and military leaders reflected on the legacy of the Vietnam War in a moving public program.

JUNE EDUCATION SUMMER INSTITUTE: WAR, MEMORY, AND INSTRUCTION
Educators explored how narratives of war shape teaching, memory, and national identity through immersive sessions and fieldwork.

SEPTEMBER-NOVEMBER LBJ IN THE 1960S SERIES
A six-week course on LBJ's presidency, offering an in-depth look at his leadership, legacy, and the pivotal changes of the 1960s guided by two LBJ scholars.

OCTOBER FILMING FOR LIVE FROM THE LBJ LIBRARY: DAVID HOGG
Activist David Hogg reflected on surviving Parkland, founding March for Our Lives, and youth-driven democracy.

NOVEMBER EXHIBIT OPENING: AIN'T NO DAYLIGHT IN VIETNAM
Members previewed a powerful new exhibit exploring the chaos, courage, and controversy of March 1968 in Vietnam.

FEBRUARY FUTURE FORUM: STATE OF AUSTIN MUSIC
Industry leaders and artists discussed the preservation of Austin's creative spirit amid rapid growth and change.

APRIL FROM THE WHITE HOUSE TO THE DEEP OCEAN: LBJ, JAWS, AND CONSERVATION
Exploring LBJ's environmental legacy and Jaws author Peter Benchley's journey from White House writer to ocean advocate.

JUNE SCREENING AND DISCUSSION: THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION WITH KEN BURNS
Filmmakers Ken Burns and Sarah Botstein previewed their PBS series and discussed America's founding with Mark Updegrove.

THE YEAR AHEAD

A TRANSFORMATIVE YEAR MARKED BY NATIONAL MILESTONES

We are looking forward to a transformative year ahead, marked by the opening of a newly redesigned core exhibition on LBJ; the 250th anniversary of American democracy with a special exhibition from the National Archives; the acclaimed Hip Hop America: The Mixtape Exhibit on loan from the GRAMMY Museum; and a program commemorating the 60th anniversary of the Great Society. Together, these milestones will anchor a year of dynamic programming and expanded learning opportunities for educators.

AMERICA 250 COMMEMORATION

The Library will partner with the National Archives to present more than 30 original documents spanning the full sweep of American history.

NEW CORE EXHIBITION

A reimagined permanent exhibition opens Spring 2026, bringing LBJ's legacy to life through dynamic, interactive storytelling.

GREAT SOCIETY 60TH ANNIVERSARY

The Library will mark the 60th anniversary of the Great Society with a special event examining the state of Medicare, voting rights, and the nation at large today.

A YEAR SHAPED BY DISTINGUISHED VOICES

The 2025–2026 season will feature Justice Amy Coney Barrett, Governor Gretchen Whitmer, and General Stanley McChrystal—anchoring a year of meaningful national dialogue.

EXPANDED SUMMER EDUCATOR INSTITUTES

An additional Summer Institute will expand professional development opportunities for teachers nationwide, engaging educators with the Library's new LBJ exhibition and the National Archives' America 250 anniversary collection.

PROGRAMS

“Our programs bring people together to learn from the past and consider the issues shaping our world today. Each year we welcome thoughtful voices and notable leaders to the LBJ Library for conversations that inspire, inform, and connect. In doing so, we advance the Library’s mission: bringing Americans closer to their history—and to one another.”

-Sarah McCracken
Director of Public Programs

NANCY PELOSI WITH LUCI BAINES JOHNSON and Eugene Sepulveda at the dinner after her program.

VIETNAM VETERANS Juan Alvarado and Benny Childers at the 50-year commemoration reception.

LIVE FROM THE LBJ LIBRARY WITH MARK UPDEGROVE

Following a successful first season, Live from the LBJ Library returned for an equally well-received second. In partnership with Austin PBS, Live from the LBJ Library strives to expand accessibility to vital civic dialogue with the country's foremost public figures, historians, and writers. This past season, host Mark Updegrove—public historian, author, and media commentator—spoke with actor Bryan Cranston, renowned presidential historian Doris Kearns Goodwin, and journalist Jake Tapper, among others. In an increasingly fraught society, through conversations like these, Live from the LBJ Library encourages public discourse and civic engagement.

“BUT I DO BELIEVE THAT IF WE’RE TALKING TO ONE ANOTHER AND WE SEE THE HUMANITY IN ONE ANOTHER, WE’VE GOT A MUCH BETTER SHOT OF FINDING THAT COMMON GROUND.”

- GOVERNOR GRETCHEN WHITMER

MUSEUM OVERVIEW

“Our core exhibits bring the 1960s to life, showing LBJ’s triumphs, failures, and the decisions that still shape America today. Our temporary exhibitions build on that story—whether revisiting pivotal moments or diving into the sounds and stories that shaped our nation’s character—offering something new with each visit.”

-Lara Hall
Museum Curator

“IT’S ALL HERE, THE STORY OF OUR TIME—
WITH THE BARK OFF. THERE IS NO RECORD
OF A MISTAKE, OR AN UNPLEASANTNESS OR A CRITICISM, THAT IS NOT INCLUDED IN THE FILES HERE.”

— PRESIDENT LYNDON B. JOHNSON
MAY 22, 1971

TEMPORARY EXHIBITS

INTERPRETING THE FORCES
AND FIGURES THAT SHAPED AN ERA

Ain’t No Daylight in Vietnam examined the pivotal month of March 1968, exploring the decisions, human cost, and first-hand experiences of the war and its lasting imprint on national memory. From the White House to the Deep Ocean: LBJ, Jaws, and Conservation traced the extraordinary journey of Jaws author Peter Benchley—from his time as a White House speechwriter for President Lyndon B. Johnson to his rise as a bestselling novelist and, ultimately, a passionate advocate for ocean conservation.

EXHIBITION REFRESH

The LBJ Presidential Library is renewing its permanent exhibition to engage a new generation in the story of leadership and democracy. The redesigned experience will explore the challenges and strategies that shaped Lyndon B. Johnson's presidency, the civic movements and bipartisan cooperation that drove landmark legislation, and the lasting influence of the Great Society and Civil Rights era—inviting visitors to reflect on how the lessons of Johnson's time continue to shape our nation today.

- New exhibits and films trace LBJ's legacy from the 1960s to the issues of today.
- Expanded archives highlight LBJ's leadership, legislative strategy, and the civic movements that shaped his presidency.
- Built to support an updated K–12 curriculum, civic learning, and hands-on educational programs.

EDUCATION

“Educational programming stands as a cornerstone of the LBJ Library’s mission, welcoming 12,000 students each year. For many of these young visitors, this marks their first meaningful encounter with history as something tangible and personally relevant. We focus not simply on teaching what happened, but on helping students use historical understanding as a lens for making sense of today’s world and their role in building tomorrow.”

-Sheila Mehta and Kameko Jacobs
Education Specialists

The LBJ Library’s teacher programs combine historical depth with practical classroom application, giving educators opportunities to engage with scholars, artifacts, and peers. Participants leave with new strategies, deeper content knowledge, and collaborative insights for bringing complex topics to life.

“I CANNOT THANK YOU ENOUGH FOR THE SUMMER INSTITUTE, I AM HEADING BACK TO MY CLASSROOM WITH RESOURCES AND IDEAS (AND ENERGY!).”

- ANDREA THIRY-WENZ
EDUCATOR, GREEN BAY, WISCONSIN

EDUCATOR EVENING

On October 23, 2024, the LBJ Library hosted educators for an evening of food and drinks, an educational presentation by Ken O'Regan with the White House Historical Association and a guided tour of our new exhibit Ain't No Daylight in Vietnam.

EDUCATOR SUMMER INSTITUTE

Educators met at the LBJ Library from June 23 to June 27, 2025, to explore the history of the United States through the lens of war and conflict. In addition to hearing from a distinguished group of speakers, participants visited the National Museum of the Pacific War in Fredericksburg, Texas, and watched a special screening of the film Warfare.

WATER ECOLOGY WORKSHOP

In a two-day educator workshop, K-12 educators learned about the history of ocean science and the ecology of water systems, dissected oysters, studied shark ecology, and explored Spring Lake at the Meadows Center for Water and the Environment at Texas State University in San Marcos, Texas.

DEAR LBJ FOUNDATION COMMUNITY,

This is a moment of tremendous growth and excitement for the LBJ School of Public Affairs. This fall, we welcomed the first-ever freshman class to our new Bachelor of Public Affairs program—an important milestone that marks the next era of leadership education at the LBJ School. As the program grows, we expect to double our enrollment and expand opportunities for students to serve Texas, the nation, and the world.

Looking ahead, we're preparing to launch a Master of National Security in fall 2026, strengthening our ability to train public servants who can navigate complex global challenges. New research initiatives are also positioning the LBJ School to address the pressing issues of our time:

The Center for Municipal Capital Markets will help governments finance critical infrastructure—schools, housing, hospitals, and utilities.

The LBJ Business Policy Forum will explore how policy can enhance economic competitiveness and collaboration with the private sector.

Throughout these changes, our commitment remains the same: to be a place where ideas are challenged with respect and disagreement becomes a catalyst for learning. President Johnson's belief that "we must reason together" continues to guide our work. Through programs like the Patman Center for Civic and Political Engagement, we are fostering dialogue across political lines and preparing the next generation of empathetic, effective leaders.

I'm deeply inspired by our students' passion, our faculty's dedication, and the continuing partnership between the LBJ School and the LBJ Foundation. Endowments held by the Foundation now support 156 student fellowships and 18 faculty, strengthening our shared mission. Together, we are advancing President Johnson's vision of a more just, informed, and united society.

For the past decade, the LBJ Foundation has been honored to serve as a founding partner of the Presidential Leadership Scholars (PLS) program, which brings together exceptional leaders from across the nation to learn from the legacies of Presidents Lyndon B. Johnson, George H.W. Bush, Bill Clinton, and George W. Bush. Through the program, Scholars have studied real-world examples of presidential decision-making, collaboration, and service—discovering how lessons from the past can inform effective leadership today.

During their time at the LBJ Presidential Library, Scholars explore the Johnson administration's landmark achievements in civil rights, education, and public health, and engage directly with archival materials and personal stories that reveal the challenges of governing with empathy and courage. The experience includes an evening reception at the LBJ Ranch.

As PLS marks its tenth anniversary, the LBJ Foundation celebrates a partnership that has served over 500 PLS alumni and continues to inspire new generations of leaders to serve with purpose, bridge divides, and strengthen our democracy.

"I LOVED BEING IN THE COMPANY OF PEOPLE WHO BELIEVE IN SOMETHING BIGGER THAN THEMSELVES; PEOPLE WHO SEE A NEED IN THE WORLD AND BELIEVE THAT THEY CAN DO SOMETHING ABOUT IT... THESE ARE MY FELLOW SCHOLARS, AND SEEING THEIR WORK HAS CHALLENGED ME TO PRESS FORWARD WITH MINE."

- THEAR SUZUKI

VOLUNTEERS

CELEBRATING VOLUNTEERS WHO BRING OUR MISSION TO LIFE

“Volunteers play a vital role in advancing the mission of the LBJ Presidential Library. Through their service, they exemplify the spirit of civic engagement that defined the Johnsons’ vision. Volunteers help uphold our commitment to historical stewardship by engaging with museum visitors, leading tours of our exhibitions, and assisting with our public programs and events. We are proud to celebrate our volunteers and their dedication to enriching the experience of every person who walks through our doors.”
